This may be charged separately and a separate agreement made to your final agreement and or estimate. It may also mean we cannot provide a fixed cost or price until certain stages are accomplished to reveal the service plan. Read more about this in our prices.

Changing Your Mind

Maintenance, Repairs & Servicing

- 10 When works relates to maintenance, repairs or servicing within your property – there is no cooling off period and therefore our cancellation policy which can be found below is active from accepting our agreement.
- 10.1 In instances when the appointment for a visit from RyGas Limited has been made by a third party (managing agent, landlord) who is not arranging the access at the property but has instructed the works. Cancellations or no access will still be subject to our cancellation policy as stated below.

Installation & Planned works

- 11 You have the right to change your mind and cancel an agreement within 14 days from the date of completion of Your installation without giving any reason. This does not apply to the extent that the agreement includes Emergency Works, Maintenance, Repairs or Servicing.
- 12 If You do change Your mind and cancel the Contract, You will receive a full refund of any deposit paid within a further 14 days; however, if We have started Preparatory Work You understand that You will be charged a reasonable proportion of the fees shown for them on the Order.

- 12.1 To change Your mind and cancel the agreement in accordance with the above clause You should tell Us as quickly as possible and confirm this in writing addressing this to the below contact details. We have supplied a tear off slip below which You can use, but You do not need to. You can notify Us by any means (see Contact Us)
- 12.2 You should think carefully about the consequences of cancelling the Contract at different stages. However, you may change Your mind and cancel the Contract from the Commencement Date to 14 days after the date of completion of Your installation. This is over and above Your statutory rights.
- 12.3 If no Goods have been ordered or Services carried out (including any Preparatory Work), You may change your mind and cancel the Contract, in which case You will receive a full refund of any monies paid within a further 14 days.
- 12.4 If We have commenced with the provision of the Services (including any Preparatory Work) or goods/materials have been ordered. You may change Your mind and cancel the Contract, however We may charge You reasonable fees, provided: Such as admin or labour time spent, re-stocking or return fees of goods, in some cases goods may be non-returnable and the full cost applied. The cost charged for any admin or labour will be a reasonable reflection of the value of the work that has been carried out; and You gave us permission (by agreeing to the estimate or agreement) to proceed within the cancellation period.
- 12.5 If We have completed (or partially completed an installation) You should think carefully about the consequences of cancelling the agreement at this stage. We will return to Your property to remove the Goods and You must allow Us to do so, failure to do so disputes any cancellation. You should plan carefully for this removal if we do return. We will carefully remove the Goods and leave Your property safe & secure, but that does not always mean the property will be left as found. It is likely to be impossible to refit Your old goods back into the property and We are under no obligation to do so. We will charge You proportionate fees for the work done so far and the reduced value of the Goods if that applies. However, where Goods are non-returnable, we reserve the right to charge in full and or if returnable a restocking fee if applicable. If the work has been completed, this could mean that you could be charged a significant proportion or full amount of the agreed price. We reserve the right to not register the services carried out to appropriate governing bodies where an agreement is cancelled.

Contract works

- 12.6 If you want to change your mind in relation to a contract of works – each contract will set out its own contract and cancellation terms which would be outlined within. Please refer to these documents, emails and correspondence or contact us on the details provided below for specific instruction.

Installation & Planned Works

- 13 Any additional delivery or installation costs will be shown on the Order (or any agreed variation to it), otherwise Your delivery and installation costs are included in the Price.
- 13.1 We aim to complete the delivery and installation within a reasonable time frame, but We will liaise with You over any reasonable changes to that. For the avoidance of doubt time is not of the essence in respect of the Delivery Date.

- 13.2 If a change or delay is caused by something that is within Our reasonable control, we will notify You as soon as reasonably possible and agree with You an alternate Delivery Date. We will take steps to minimise the delay and, if the delay lasts for more than 60 days from the original Delivery Date (unless You have asked for a longer period), We will allow You to cancel the Contract. You will receive a refund of any deposit paid within a further 14 days less, at Our discretion, any fees and charges due for the Preparatory Work completed so far.
- 13.3 If a change or delay is caused by something that is not within Our reasonable control (see Events Outside Our Control), We will notify You as soon as reasonably possible and the change or delay and the reasons for it. We will take steps to minimise the delay, but We may, if necessary, suspend the performance of the agreement until that event is over and the matter back within Our reasonable control.

Or prepare this to your satisfaction with our guidance prior to our attendance.
- 13.6 Your agreement should specify whether the removal of goods is included and or for you to arrange. In the instance Rygas Limited is responsible for removing the waste – we will do so under our waste carriers license CBDU334686 the key contact for this shall be Sarah Quartermaine. Were we are responsible for removing the waste it will be removed not more than 7 days following completion of the installation. Shall we not have specified who is responsible for the waste removal – it shall be assumed that it is not included unless otherwise stated in writing.
- 13.7 In circumstances where We agree to remove waste from the installation site, You understand that unless We agree otherwise, We shall not be responsible for removing any waste which is not produced as a direct consequence of Our performance of the Services or delivery of the Goods, that is hazardous (including but not limited to asbestos), or which otherwise comes from Your home or garden.

13.8 It is possible that a problem with Your property will become apparent once works commence that affect us being able to continue with the works agreed. This could include but is not limited to structural defects, underground obstructions, presence of asbestos or hidden cabling for example. We will draw this to Your attention as soon as possible and agree with You a plan to resolve the problem, if possible, which may involve You bringing in other contractors which will be at Your expense or additional costs to Your planned works. This is called an unforeseen obstacle, and we will work with you to then get back on plan with an agreed solution as quickly as possible.

- (b) For lower-value items without manufacturer labour coverage, we will liaise with our supplier to arrange for a replacement part, provided it falls within the warranty period. However, Rygas Limited will not be responsible for any labour charges required to remove or reinstall the item. The only exception to this is where the defect is proven to have been present at the time of installation, and it occurs within 6 months of the installation date. In this case, Rygas Limited will cover the labour cost for a like-for-like replacement.
- (c) While we always aim to use reliable, high-quality suppliers and products, Rygas Limited does not manufacture these items and therefore cannot be held accountable for the long-term quality or performance of goods beyond the scope outlined above.

22.6 Where the defect reported relates to a visible or aesthetic fault with a good or item — this is not this is not something that we would cover the labour of replacement or the item within 12 weeks of installation. This is due to outside factors that could have caused it. Instead, the client has 7 days to report the defect found from the date of completion of works. So we can then investigate how, when and what and where needed have time to contact our supplier of the goods.

22.7 Where we have connected on to existing connections or components — this part will not be covered under any workmanship warranty — only where 100% of the installation is new and installed by Rygas Limited and subject to our T&C's and workmanship warranty will it be covered.

22.8 We provide no warranty on any attempted repair works. This is as it's an attempt at a repair based on a more economic decision before considering replacement or further labour visits.

22.9 We do not provide any guaranteed fix and are not held liable to provide a fixed cost or guarantee to do so — unless specified in a home maintenance contract provided separately with its own terms. Therefore, we can only guarantee our engineers will work with skill and integrity — and where they find an issue suspected provide you with this information to rectify. In some cases, you may find multiple contributing factors to one fault or issue experienced and therefore we must work with a process of elimination that makes sense dependent on the information available to us in terms of previous property history, costs spent, the properties future and the urgency and nature of works. For example — we may find a boiler fan has failed — we replace the fan and now find the PCB is not sending the correct voltage which may have led to the fan's demise — but still means there is now a further part required. It would be wrong for us to make larger assumptions of replacements; in case we oversell and so a staged process of elimination meaning further costs on repair works may occur. Whilst we want to avoid these surprises in costs/ works they can be unavoidable in certain circumstances. Where you feel a misdiagnosis has been made by negligence of an engineer i.e the information they had available to them could not constitute the diagnosis or next step by way of technical fact — you should raise this as per our complaints procedure which can be found below. As whilst we cannot guarantee a first-time fix or diagnosis all our engineers are trained and held liable to a basic technical standard.

22.10 Servicing any appliances will be carried out to the governing safety standards and in line with the manufacturer's guidance. We can only guarantee to carry out that service — we cannot be held liable for any future faults or defects with that good or component. This is as servicing is a preventative and safety measure. In the time allotted to do, some faults or issues may not be visible for a variety of reasons 1. Being they are only apparent on longer times of operation i. e a boiler leaks for a heat exchanger only after it heats up and cools with expansion or 2. Parts are hidden behind other parts that wouldn't be removed or interfered with on a service. If you feel an issue has arisen because of a service — it will then be down to us to identify if this is due to negligence or a sub effect of works. This will then determine if we cover it under our workmanship warranty information can be found below. For example — an engineer leaving a valve closed after completing a service is down to negligence and for us to rectify — however a boiler that keeps on turning on after a service may be due to disruption of a cable but not down to negligence as this shouldn't be easily disrupted and therefore may have been already loose. Most causes of direct negligence would be apparent on immediate completion and not as an after affect however we will investigate any defects, or complaints thoroughly and fairly.

22.11 We do not accept liability for the following faults with Your installation:

- (a) any damage caused by You or a third party on site during or following the completion of installation,
- (b) any damage caused by You, or anyone acting for You, in attempting to repair the fault without Our consent,
- (c) any damage caused by fair wear and tear of the Goods.
- (d) Any damage or strain put on the installation, part or system caused by a subsequent side effect on the system. For example, a pipe has burst due to it freezing.
- (e) We will not be liable for any installations on existing surface levels that have not been built or installed by RyGas Limited ensuring a flat and even surface. For example, if we renew silicone on existing bath levels and installations.
- (f) We reserve the right not to accept any liability for worn or fragile items that are broken not due to negligence but due to disruption of other works and unavoidable for the engineer. I.e we remove a bath panel for replacing taps but that breaks as you can tell its age and condition has caused it.

22.12 We cannot be held liable for any costs, affects or associated works or variations to work — when we base our agreement of works from other companies' initial tests or certification. These discrepancies may only become apparent upon our tests after the fact of our work. And or if we have not specified to re test or certificate — the inconsistencies may not be realised at this point.

22.13 Where we have advised against the works being carried out in a certain manner, either verbally or writing. But the customer is willing to take the risk of that — we will not be held liable for any costs or works associated and this will void any workmanship warranty that may apply.

Drainage – specific but not limited to

- (a) We do not and cannot cover any drainage blockages. This is since we do not have full visibility of the line and there can be outside factors that contribute to a reoccurring blockage. For example, we may unblock a waste pipe to a sink – the sink runs away freely at our point of leaving – there is no reason to look deeper into it and charge the client for this time. 3 weeks later it reoccurs. This could be due to the blockage just moving further down the line, or a further one present or could be due to an installation fault that means that it does not allow for correct flow and may always have a higher susceptibility.

Building Services – specific but not limited to

- (a) If Your product is made from wood, this is a natural product which is subject to imperfections, knots and blemishes. It can also differ in colour and shade. We cannot accept responsibility for such blemishes.
- (b) We cannot be responsible for sourcing suitable replacement paint matches or tiles as batches, sunlight and age can alter the difference. You should source or check any of these elements yourself prior to purchase.
- (c) When carrying out patch work repairs and making good – we will not be held liable for the finish being an exact match – if you have a particular aesthetic requirement you should notify us to discuss options of a more complete works.

Electrical – specific but not limited to

- (a) When changing from Non-RCD to RCD protected, we cannot be held responsible or liable for any associated costs or affects that may arise as a side effect of this. For example, as the RCD boards and or RCBOS are more sensitive it may highlight existing faults that were not apparent or causing an issue prior. Therefore, we always advise to carry out pre works electrical testing to avoid this emergency.
- (b) When installing any new appliance that is on an existing supply – it may not be apparent your existing supply is not sufficient for the new load. For example, you have a current Hob – and want to install a new electrical hob – this hob could be a higher kw rating than the old appliance meaning there is more demand or overload on that circuit. Therefore, we cannot be held liable for any costs or associated works.

Plumbing – – specific but not limited to

- (a) We cannot be held liable for any labour or parts costs when sourcing and ordering tap or shower cartridges – this is as without an original brand and model – we rely on identification teams and its always a risk that it may not be correct. If its not correct we will always endeavour to return the part where possible but any labour time in attempt is chargeable. This will still be in most cases a more cost-effective solution than a replacement.
- (b) We cannot be held liable for any silicone works carried out on preexisting installation surfaces. This is as the levels and movement in the floor causes an affect on the silicone.
- (c) When converting from tank fed to mains fed systems, we cannot be held liable for any costs or rectification in relation to leaks that may occur due to additional pressure or non-compatibility or existing low pressure items.

Boiles & Heating Systems – – specific but not limited to

- (a) Some heating system types are not compatible with certain goods or appliances such Power Showers – we will not be held liable for any future costs or changes for a not seeing or having access to view this on any survey visit prior. Whilst we will endeavour to always provide skill and integrity with a comprehensive review – access on the day, the time on site and other circumstances such as whether it was via a video call initially may affect this ability.
- (b) We will connect on to existing gas supplies unless otherwise stated in our agreement – where we have not carried out a paid survey and or gas test prior it will be assumed the existing supply is sufficient for any new installation before starting works but will be checked on completion, should this not be the case there may be variation to affect your cost.
- (c) When power flushing a system we cannot be held liable for any costs or rectification works associated from leaks that may be caused as a side effect – whilst the occurrence of this is rare. Putting additional strain or pressure on especially older systems can cause leaks.

Renewables

Heat Pumps - specific but not limited to

- (a) The installation of Your product could make Your property more thermally and energy efficient. However, a by-product of this can be additional condensation either on the surface of the glass (but not between the panes), the surface of the frames and elsewhere in Your home. This is related to the need for adequate ventilation. We will advise You about how to improve the free flow of air around Your property, which will reduce condensation, but We cannot accept responsibility for problems with condensation.
- (b) Heat pump systems are not compatible with certain goods or appliances such as towel radiators – we will not be held liable for any future costs or changes for a not seeing or having access to view this on any survey visit prior. Whilst we will endeavour to always provide a comprehensive review – access, the time on site and other circumstances may affect this ability.
